Jewelry Coverage!

If you recently purchased jewelry for Christmas or plan on purchasing it for Valentine's Day, make sure it's insured! We recommend insuring jewelry in case it's lost, stolen, or a stone falls out. Most homeowners and renters policies have limitations for theft. Our companies offer scheduled and blanket jewelry coverage to protect those precious gems!

Automatic Payment Methods!

Many of our companies offer easy and efficient ways to make your monthly insurance payments directly from your bank account. These plans are the best way to ensure you never miss a payment, even if you are out of town. Some of our companies allow you to choose the date for your monthly withdrawal. In addition to these benefits, your bank statement should show you when a payment was made and the exact amount deducted each month. Some companies can also help save you money in your monthly installment fees. Call today to see what benefits your company offers.

Reduce Static Cling!!

Pin a small safety pin to the seam of your slip and you will not have a clingy skirt or dress. Same thing works with slacks that cling when wearing panty hose. Place pin in seam of slacks and....ta da!....static is gone.

Protect Your Car From Rodents

First, try to store your car in a location that is free of rodents. Second, remain vigilant in visiting, cleaning, and running your vehicle as often as possible. Many collectors suggest surrounding the outside of the car with mothballs placed a few inches apart. Mice hate the smell and usually will not walk through this "barrier." Consider putting shaved pieces of Irish Spring soap on foil or in small open containers inside the vehicle. The odor from the soap is less objectionable than that from the mothballs, but will still help you deter the rodents. You can also consider one of the electronic deterrent devices available for your garage, but the ultimate protection may just be a "car cocoon" vice, which completely encloses the vehicle and can assist with controlling moisture as well.
